IWA University Membership

Together, towards a water-wise world

The International Water Association is the largest international network of water professionals working towards a water-wise world. In shaping and furthering this agenda, IWA engages with a variety of organisations through projects, events and publications. IWA's growing and engaged membership brings together the best scientific minds, academics and industry specialists, to tackle the world's most pressing water problems.

By joining IWA as a University Member, you have the opportunity to unlock the potential of your institution and your teaching staff. IWA membership supports professional and leadership development, while providing visibility for your University. Together, we shape the global water sector and provide your University with unique opportunities to be positioned as a global thought leader in water management.

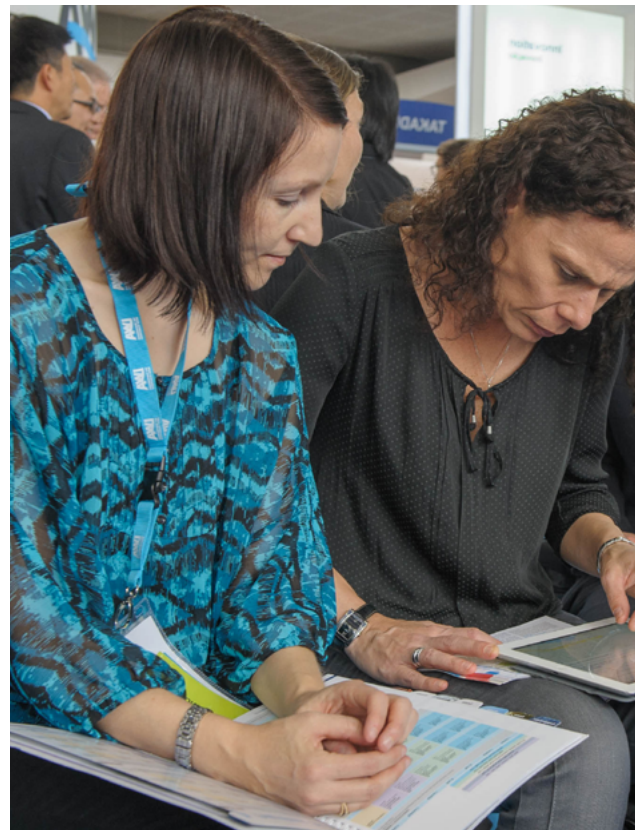

IWA Membership, a world of opportunities

PROFILE YOUR UNIVERSITY AS A
LEADER IN THE WATER SECTOR
AND ACCESS A GLOBAL NETWORK

IWA Online Promote your University work

The IWA online tools such as IWA Connect and IWA Learn are at your disposal to promote your prestigious courses. Profiling your university to IWA's global network spread across 130 countries, can help position your University as an academic leader in the water sector. As an IWA University member, you will be entitled to a customisable online profile that will increase your visibility within our network.

The platform will help your university and your Nominated Academics to connect with the entire IWA community, including its Specialist Group members, other university members and the IWA's network of water professionals.

IWA Global Network Connect research to practice

IWA Connect and IWA Events offer the digital and physical space to connect research to practice, academia to industry. IWA is a pioneer in reshaping the channels for collaboration between different sectors, with the common goal to work towards a water-wise world.

POSITION YOUR UNIVERSITY AS A THOUGHT LEADER

IWA Specialist Groups

Share knowledge with like-minded IWA members

The 50 IWA Specialist Groups provide a space for scientific and technical content development that drives innovations in the water sector. Spread across IWA's membership worldwide, they are an effective means of international networking, sharing information and skills, and building your contacts.

Your Nominated Academics can join any of the IWA Specialist Groups, participate in online discussions on IWA-Connect, share their latest research findings and access the unique content generated through the Specialist Groups - including newsletters, white papers and technical reports.

IWA Events

Disseminate your research & meet water professionals

IWA Events champion learning and professional updating in the water sector, and promote excellence and leadership in all aspects of water management with the aim of realising our common goal of a water-wise world. As a University Member, you will enjoy significant discounts to attend the events can engage fully with these networking and learning opportunities - to be shared with your fellows and students.

ENHANCE CONTINUOUS LEARNING AND DEVELOPMENT

IWA Learn

Develop professionally

Professionals and academics in the water sector require continuous development to be able to stay abreast of new research and best practices. IWA Learn provides a host of learning and professional development opportunities for your University's Nominated Academics to update their knowledge and build up the competences necessary to succeed through short-term courses, self-paced courses and webinars.
